The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Barnes et al. (Barnes) in view of Gallegos.

Barnes discloses a decorative container system comprising a decorative container including an outer container (22a), an inner container (22), a hollow region therebetween and a decorative lid (10) mounted in an upper opening of the decorative container, the lid having a hollow cavity, the lid being transparent, the lid has a removable lid access member (16). Barnes discloses the invention except for the outer container is not transparent and the removable member allowing access to the hollow region. Gallegos teaches a decorative container comprising a transparent outer container, a transparent inner container, a hollow region therebetween and a removable member (23) allowing access to the hollow region. It would have been obvious to modify the decorative container construction to include a transparent outer container in order to view the hollow region and to utilize this region as a decorative space in order to provide an aesthetically pleasing appearance. It would have been obvious to modify the construction of the connection between the outer container and inner container to include the removable member in order to allow access to the hollow region in order to change the decoration within the hollow region and to easily clean this region should dirt or other contamination become present.

Art Unit: 3727

Claims 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Barnes in view of Wilkinson et al. (Wilkinson).

Barnes discloses a decorative container system comprising a decorative container including an outer container (22a), an inner container (22), a hollow region therebetween and a decorative lid (10) mounted in an upper opening of the decorative container, the lid having a hollow cavity, the lid being transparent, the lid has a removable lid access member (16). Barnes discloses the invention except for the dividers, the outer container is not transparent and the removable member allowing access to the hollow region. Wilkinson teaches a decorative container comprising a transparent outer container, a transparent inner container, a hollow region therebetween with radial walls (20) which define dividers and a removable member (23) which appears to be resting upon the upper edges of outer container wall (3) and radial walls (20) allowing access to the hollow region. It would have been obvious to modify the decorative container construction to include dividers and a transparent outer container in order to view the hollow region and to utilize this region as a decorative and storage space in order to provide an aesthetically pleasing appearance and the utility of carrying various contents in a segregated manner. It would have been obvious to modify the construction of the connection between the outer container and inner container to include the removable member in order to allow access to the hollow region in order to change the decoration within the hollow region and to easily clean this region should dirt or other contamination become present.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Barnes in view of Gallegos as applied to claim 15 above, and further in view of Wilkinson.

Art Unit: 3727

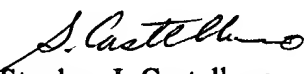

The combination discloses the invention except for the dividers. Wilkinson teaches dividers. It would have been obvious to add the dividers to the hollow region in order to utilize the hollow region as a storage space in order to carry various contents in a segregated manner.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Attachment for PTO-948 (Rev. 03/01, or earlier)
6/18/01

The below text replaces the pre-printed text under the heading, "Information on How to Effect Drawing Changes," on the back of the PTO-948 (Rev. 03/01, or earlier) form.

INFORMATION ON HOW TO EFFECT DRAWING CHANGES

1. Correction of Informalities -- 37 CFR 1.85

New corrected drawings must be filed with the changes incorporated therein. Identifying indicia, if provided, should include the title of the invention, inventor's name, and application number, or docket number (if any) if an application number has not been assigned to the application. If this information is provided, it must be placed on the front of each sheet and centered within the top margin. If corrected drawings are required in a Notice of Allowability (PTOL-37), the new drawings MUST be filed within the THREE MONTH shortened statutory period set for reply in the Notice of Allowability. Extensions of time may NOT be obtained under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b) for filing the corrected drawings after the mailing of a Notice of Allowability. The drawings should be filed as a separate paper with a transmittal letter addressed to the Official Draftsperson.

2. Corrections other than Informalities Noted by Draftsperson on form PTO-948.

All changes to the drawings, other than informalities noted by the Draftsperson, MUST be made in the same manner as above except that, normally, a highlighted (preferably red ink) sketch of the changes to be incorporated into the new drawings MUST be approved by the examiner before the application will be allowed. No changes will be permitted to be made other than correction of informalities, unless the examiner has approved the proposed changes.

Timing of Corrections

Applicant is required to submit the drawing corrections within the time period set in the attached Office communication. See 37 CFR 1.85(a).

Failure to take corrective action within the set period will result in ABANDONMENT of the application.
